Katie McGee, Board Certified Behavior Analyst (BCBA)

Families will learn about evidence-based strategies to achieve summer success and maintain routines. We will discuss the importance of balancing leisure activities and fostering independence while still maintaining essential routines needed for success in the upcoming school year.

Early Literacy-- Grades K-5, 7-8 p.m.

Jenn Nelson, Literacy Coach and Instructional Designer

Caroline Stout, Multi-Tiered System of Supports Coordinator

Families will learn about the essentials of reading instruction: phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary and comprehension. This session will not only help families understand these components but also provide resources and strategies to practice these skills at home. The content shared at this session is repeated from the Parent Partnership series Literacy session offered in December.
